

NAUSET TIDES

A group of approximately 15 people are standing on a sandy beach, facing away from the camera towards the ocean. They are all holding hands and raising their arms in the air, suggesting a celebratory or communal activity. The ocean is visible in the background with white-capped waves breaking. The sky is overcast with grey clouds. The overall tone of the image is somber yet hopeful due to the weather and the group's gesture.

The Nauset Surf Cafe

During the summer of 2012,
the Nauset High School cafeteria was transformed into the new Student Cafe.

Now presenting, the Nauset Surf Cafe! Over the summer, construction workers persevered and replaced each and every window and roof throughout the campus. The goal was to make the school buildings more safe, and energy efficient.

The artistic ability at our school and around Cape Cod can't be brushed aside. The new murals on the cafe walls, representing a wave and a sunset, bring a livelihood and energy to the new look.

Student Feedback

"The cafe is more technologically advanced."
-Payton Whalen (Freshman)

"There's more diversity of the tables."
-Macy Zartarian (Sophomore)

"The new tables make you more comfortable!"
- Sam Walters (Junior)

"The lunch lines are much more efficient."
- Cassandra Williams (Senior)

Lizzie Douglass and Hannah Garside take a minute to look out the new architecturally designed windows (above).

Students Duncan Wright, Lilas Cohen and Laura Imler pose in front of the new windows. They all said the new windows make things brighter at Nauset (left).

A group of students and teacher Lisa Brown lead the way down Cable Road (below).

Zach Altneu, Hunter Maher, and Adam Huber kidding around on the senior walk to Nauset Light beach (right).

Side by Side, Hand in Hand

After much deliberation, the Senior Class spent the afternoon of November 13, 2012 walking to Nauset Light Beach for the traditional senior photo. Escorted by administrators and the Eastham Police Department, the members of the Class of 2013 were all smiles as they walked together down Cable Road. The weather was cloudy and cold, but the students made it bright!

It is in you, my friends, where I will forever find home for sharing mine with me. I am infinitely grateful. Now let's show em what we're made of.

People come and go from our lives, leaving an impressionable mark in our hearts and minds. Too many people in our lives are taken for granted. It's weird to think that my high school career is over. I'm not going to lie, high school wasn't the best. I hated doing all the work, and juggling it with a job & a social life. But I'd be lying if I said I didn't meet the most amazing people, and had the best experiences. I'll never forget the sleepovers, random drives, and trips to the Olive Garden with my friends Jordan, Liz, Katrina, & Marjorie. We made so many memories, and many more to come. Well, it seems like just four years ago that I came into this school as a freshman walking around like I had no idea what I was doing. Oh wait, it was four years ago, alright. Well now I walk around with my chin up with my sights set on a bright future. A big thanks to my family and friends, Mom, Dad, you did a great job raising me to be who I am. A wise man once said, "You'll miss high school", and I took those words to heart; now I know that I will cherish these years of my life for as long as I live. Best of luck everyone!

Also, to my brother, Riley, I hope you get to live the high school experience I had when you get here, love you buddy. High school was the craziest four years of my life with so many memories. "Think! Think and wonder. Wonder and think. How much water can filty-five elephants drink?"
-Dr. Seuss

Anyone on the Cape would say they are lucky to live in such a beautiful place, and, of course, I agree. But I am looking forward to a change of scenery; someplace I can experience life on my own, without the fallback of my family, my life-long friends, and my island. There's that cliché senior text saying how short high school has been and how it's gone by way to fast, which is all true. Yet that short time has prepared me for my future where I get to decide where I want to be.

I, Ellie Garside, bequeath Hannah the hug I never gave (in school), Connie a boy who deserves her, and Liam Thursday breakfasts.

Dakota Girard

Hmm...where to begin. Moments have passed, memories will last. These four years have been some of the best years. I only wish the best for my fellow classmates in the future! We finally made it! My friends and family were here for me every step of the way. Words cannot describe the gratitude I have for the people around me. Let's show the world who the class of 2013 really is!

-N. Bedingfield

I, Dakota Girard, bequeath Thursday morning breakfast to Liam Bailey.

Andrew Goland

It's been a good eight years for me, here on Cape Cod. I can say that I have truly experienced what the cape has to offer. Whether it's the beach with it's course sand, our bipolar climate, or our close knit community, it is safe for me to say that I would not have had these encounters if I had continued to live in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Now the time has come for all of the class of 2013 to experience new beginnings that enrich our lives in the same way the Cape enriched mine.

"Thinking is easy, acting is difficult, & to put one's thoughts into action is the most difficult thing in the world."

The last four years have blown by, but so much has happened. No one's high school career is perfect but I know I learned a lot and made life-long friends. We will take these memories with us and use them in the future. Even though we are ecstatic to get out of here we will all miss it.

Davis Hartnett

"The sooner you fall behind, the more time you'll have to catch up."

-Steven Wright

There's not much that I can say that you won't read again, but if I can leave with any parting words, I'd say high school is but a brief stepping stone to far greater things. I will always thank my parents, but today I thank Nauset, with all its teachers and coaches, charms and flaws, and countless means by which it's made me who I am today. To the many amazing friends I've made and incredible people I've met, I say thank you for everything, and may we leave Nauset with great lives ahead of us.

I, Davis Hartnett, bequeath all the joys and responsibilities of Nauset Running to Burke, Derek, Jeff, and Coralea. Best of luck to all of you, you'll need it...

And to my friends, I hope they find everything they want in life and receive everything they deserve. Congratulations class of 2013!

I, Chelsea Hathaway, bequeath the most spectacular senior year to my sister Lindsay, #alto problems to Shannon and Sherley, and many more competition wins to Honors Chorus and the Music Department

David Hayden

"Fresh, never frozen."

-Dave Thomas

Spencer J. Hill

Nauset really opened my world up. The opportunities became endless, and I became the person I wanted to be, rather than the one people said I should be. In the words of Kurt Cobain: "Trying to be someone else is just a waste of the person you are."

Adam Huber

The last four years have been some of the best of my life. To my friends and family: you've been there alongside me for all of it and I can't thank you enough. But along the way I've learned that high school isn't just about becoming smarter. It's about the people you meet, the friends you make. It's not just about the essays you write, the tests you take, the presentations you sweat over for days before hand, it's about all the things you did. My only regret: I wish I had more time to do more.

"You miss 100% of the shots you don't take"
- Wayne Gretzky

I, Adam Huber, bequeath the most attractive soccer car to Ty, Tarek, and Colton, and the Jimmy to Kara.

WOW! That is all I can say when I think about how fast the past four years of high school has gone by. -Maria Mena

It passes by before you can even say wait. I'm not ready to accept the change, but that stronger conscience inside me is ready to face the fears and the years to come. Four long years of ups and downs made it hard to get through. Apology and regret; these words I wouldn't use to describe the feeling. I do nothing but thank all the times that helped me grow and made me who I am today. It's time, time for me to face the world with a smile on my face and a guitar strapped to my back. Time passes by, and I don't want to miss a moment.

I, Allie Jason, bequeath all the fine ladies to Jonas Greenblatt.

I have these years of schooling to thank for that. I must also thank my mom and my family for all they have done for me; I would be no where without your love and support, so thank you. The world's been good to me the past 12 years. I've learned more than I ever thought I would: how to write an essay in 15 minutes, attend 4 meetings at once, make friends, make enemies, and slack off while still working hard. To the usual suspects, you guys really do complete me. Thanks to the other 3/4 of me for always sticking around. My four years at Nauset have been an amazing experience. As expected, graduating will be bitter-sweet. I will deeply miss the friends I have made over the years especially the Eastham crew. Yet, I am excited to take the next step in my life and move on to college. Thank you to all my teachers and especially to my parents for being there for me every step of the way. The memories from these past four years will live on forever.

Seeing the waves in the morning, Sam's, SWS, after school beach trips, freezing cold fall sports games and lots of coffee. The past four years at Nauset have flown by and I've been so fortunate to have had such incredible teachers and opportunities. Thank you to my parents for always supporting me through everything, and for the friends I have been so lucky to have made, and kept over these four amazing years. I wish the Class of 2013 the best in all of our endeavors. Mischief Managed.

Thanks to everyone who has influenced me and made my life what it is. I'd love to thank all of you personally, but I don't think I could do that in such a small space. David and Sam: thanks for being some of the coolest friends a guy could ask for. Mom, Dad, and Lindsey: thanks for always being there, even though I'm sure it was hard. Thanks to all my other friends and family and teachers and even to just people I know. You've all helped make my four years four to remember.

"Time flies, time flies" blah blah blah... but seriously, it does! The past four years have truly flown and I have grown a tremendous amount. But instead of talking about myself, let's get to the important stuff: Be kind! A compliment can make a day. Be compassionate! Love is the strongest force. Be YOU! It's cliché, but finding the true you will make your time on earth a lot more enjoyable. Congrats to the class of 2013, who would have thought that we would make it? Much love and best of luck!

I, Caitlin Verdi, bequeath my rockstar good looks to Erin Mahoney, charm, wit, and the strength to survive another year to Kelly Chase, and jump rope fame to the Jernberg twins and Kahla Jusell.

Dominick Vitale

High school has flown by, if you were to tell me that it would come as quickly as it did I wouldn't have believed you. Thanks Mom and Dad for helping me along the way (even though most of the times I didn't want it.) To the soccer team and also my friends, thanks for all the great times, I love you all. It's time to embark on the next adventure!

These past four years hold some of the best memories of my life, but as they draw to a close I feel no sorrow. Enjoy life while you're there but make the next day even better, it's your task to make each one legendary. I'd like to thank all my brothers on the football team, the best times were with you. My four years at Nauset have been a life-changing experience. Mom and Dad, thank you for giving me a great childhood and for encouraging me to be the best I can be. Kyra, thank you for all you've done for me in these past sixteen years. To my friends, I want to thank you for laughing at my jokes and always being there for me through darkness and light. I can't believe it's over! It seems like yesterday I was a freshman, scared out of my mind, but four years later and I'm even more afraid to leave. High school flew by, so if I could say one thing to the underclassmen, it would be this: enjoy it, try your best, and never take yourself too seriously. I can't say I'd do it over again, but Nauset will always have a special place in my heart. To my friends and family, I know I'm not the easiest to deal with, but thanks for everything. I couldn't have gotten here without you guys. Class of 2013, good luck in the future. We did it!

I, Alex Wheeler, bequeath a great junior and senior year to my little sister Jordan. Make me proud

Kaitlyn Whelan

I can't believe how fast the last four years have gone by. I have some amazing memories to carry with me forever. Thank you to my family for always supporting me and helping me succeed, I love you guys. How many people can say they made a wooden bowl or a ring from scratch? Thank you, Mr. Craven and Mr. Hoyt. Alex Wheeler, thanks for being my best friend, I love you. Most importantly, thanks to my Mom and Dad, you guys are the best. Also, thanks for supporting me and always being there. Goodbye Nauset and thank you. You will forever be in my heart.

From China to Nauset, I've been through lots of changes every single year of my high school. Luckily, I made it! Thanks Mom and Dad for being strong support and providing great help throughout my life. I can't describe my thanks for all you've done. High school has been an amazing experience, and it has been a pleasure for me to study at Nauset as an international student. Thank you to all my friends and teachers. All in all, it's been a rather pleasant four years, mostly devoid of those insane dramas that seem to plague others. As these things are intended to be read in remembrances, you'll probably recall me as that guy who has a great voice, or not remember me at all. To those who knew me on closer terms, it's been great knowing you and it is my hope we're able to stay in contact.

High school is a four year journey that everyone makes. It has it's ups and downs but everyone has make the best of it. I know I did. I'm walking away from this school after meeting so many people and making more friends than I ever could have imagined. I wish them all the best and know that every one of my classmates will go far in life. Thanks to my friends and family because without them I would never have even lasted a year in this school. I don't have much else to say other than, congratulations to the class of 2013 and I will never forget any of you.

School Within A School

The SWS Program

The School Within a School (SWS) emphasizes problem solving and critical thinking in a supportive atmosphere. SWS focuses on accommodating individual learning styles. Most courses extend classroom learning to the surrounding community and beyond.

SWS has changed this year, adding a new face to the program. Julie Quigley, who taught English to freshmen and sophomores last year, joined SWS this year. She is teaching Facing History and Ourselves, World Citizenship, and Mythology for Writers. Paul Davies officially completed his retirement in November, but continues to teach Astronomy.

The program has also changed allowing Senior students to choose between taking Facing History as a half or full year course. As a result, there was an additional class of Seniors who took SWS this year, allowing the program to continue to grow.

Civil Rights Trip

The SWS Program

For many years, the teachers have taken the juniors on an overnight trip to the White Mountains prior to the school year. The purpose of the trip is for the students to work together on various activities including hiking the mountains and playing games. This trip to New Hampshire brings the class together as a whole. Both students and teachers carry the bond into the classroom which allows the program to have an ideal learning environment. Below, some of the Juniors on the trip gather for a group photo.

HAND IN HAND ACROSS THE WORLD

Foreign Exchange Program

Nauset High School has partnered with Educatius International. The Educatius F-I Public High School Program offers students the possibility to choose the actual school district they will attend. Students enjoy full access to sports, clubs and academics in the schools, including the possibility of obtaining a high school diploma. Students attend public high schools that charge a fee to accept the students because of the fee they are enrolled like any other students with the same rights regarding subjects, arts, activities, and graduation etc. This school year we had students from China, France, and Belgium. Next year we have students from Italy and China scheduled to arrive in September. We look forward to expanding this program in the future with many more students attending Nauset High School.

Lending A Hand Leaders in Community Service

Madeline Larson
2013

“Last summer, I traveled to Haiti with my Parish and volunteered at a summer camp at a local school. I taught the elementary school children English songs, field games, and crafts. I feel like this experience has made me more aware of the world around me, namely the problems, and how I can personally try to fix them.”

Morgan Mindrebo
2013

“For the past two summers I volunteered at Welfleet Audobon. I was a leader in training and worked with fifth graders. This was my favorite summer experience and will help me later in life because I hope to work with kids when I grow up. I also worked with horses at a local barn and helped them with shows.”

Ran Zhao
2013

“I volunteered to go to Cambodia to teach English at a local school. Students didn't have school supplies so I had to bring textbooks and prepare my own class activities. I would stay after school to play with the kids. On the weekends, I went to the village with toothbrushes, toothpaste, and shampoo. Most of them had fleas in their hair and had never brushed their teeth before. My experience in Cambodia makes me appreciate what I have and not take things for granted.”

Jarek Lenda

2014

“My community service was an internship at TRI studios which is a music studio outside of San Francisco. I assisted in setting up for music videos and helping with camera work during livestreams and videos. My experience with TRI positively influenced me because I interacted with many different people and had to work in a professional environment.”

Tia Petelle

2014

“I helped teach kids how to swim for Brewster Recreation. Volunteering at Long Pond in Brewster has made me realize that it's rewarding to teach kids something they will use for the rest of their lives.”

Jack McCrea

2014

“I have participated in a Junior Counselor program at the Cape Cod Sea Camps for the past three summers. I have taught kids of all ages how to engage in land sports and group activities! I learned how to make the best summer camp experience for the children! It has helped me become a true leader and role model for younger kids.”

Ken Carreiro

2014

“I did service at Little Island Preschool in Wellfleet and coached third and fourth grade girls' basketball for Wellfleet Recreation. These experiences have influenced my life positively because I love teaching young children.”

Jetta Cook 2015

"I volunteered at the Cape Cod National Seashore in Eastham. I was a shorebird interpreter. I sat out on the beach while the tourists came and informed the public about shorebirds. I prevented them from violating the rules and going into restricted areas. This has definitely helped me improve my communication with people. It also gave me a lot of insight and knowledge about ornithology; a branch of zoology concerning the study of birds."

Anna Godshalk 2015

"I was a camp leader and counselor in training at Brewster Day Camp. I helped take care of kids of all ages during the summer. I also helped out with their tennis program. These experiences positively influenced me because I have learned to become more patient and I also gained experience with young kids."

Grace Kobold 2015

"I volunteer for Donate Life New England to increase public awareness about transplant patients and the need for donors, for the Boston Children's Hospital Trust as a public speaker at their fundraising events and as the Massachusetts Children's Miracle Network champion as an advocate for pediatric healthcare and spokesperson for Boston Children's. I've met incredibly courageous children battling diseases, families who made the decision to donate their child's organs after a catastrophic accident, corporate sponsors who share their profits, and healthcare professionals who want to make every child well. These people have taught me how to be more compassionate, to be grateful for each day and that one person can make a difference in the world."

Regina Christen 2016

“The past two summers I have been a CIT for Brewster Recreation teaching sailing lessons. I also participated in the Junior Lifeguard Program at the National Seashore. Working with younger kids has been fun, but also takes a lot of patience and responsibility. Being a Junior Lifeguard has given me knowledge that will come in handy not only in life-guarding, but in any emergency situation.”

Oliver Launoy 2016

“I volunteered at Brewster Recreation, working with kids during the day. I worked as a Counselor in Training for kids in pre-school to seventh grade and had to keep them occupied for four hours. This experience has positively influenced me because it has taught me how to be patient with others and has made me become more social, interacting with the other volunteers.”

Marissa Freeman 2016

“My community service involved a variety of things with different groups of people. For example, I helped with raffles, got donations, and went to meetings. I also made bows and sold them to raise money. These experiences have made me become more helpful and more thoughtful of others.”

Kelly Rothenberger 2016

“I volunteer at a local horse farm in Brewster called Emerald Hollow Farm. I help with their therapeutic riding program, walking alongside the horse and providing safety, comfort, and reassurance to the riders. I also help teach kids from nine to twelve years old, the basics of horsemanship. These experiences have given me confidence and patience. It has shown me the positive effects horses have on people.”

The game was intense, with both teams playing hard until the final buzzer sounded.

As a faculty team member stated "The game was great, and it was awesome that all the proceeds went to the girls team in helping them start up and fund this new team." As another faculty member said, "it's cool how the entire community and school joined together to support the girls as a new team. It was an all around wonderful experience". As with any game, one team had to come out on top. With the final score of 7-5, the Nauset/Cape Cod Tech Girls Hockey team took the big W.

Every year Nauset teachers Lisa Brown and Valerie Bell take a select few students to Matenwa, LaGonave, Haiti to visit a local school, sustain an arts center and support an orphanage. LaGonave is an island off of the mainland, and Matenwa is a rural farming area two hours up into the mountains. The students, Mia Cliggott-Perlt, Chris Wingard, Lucas Karlsson, and Jody Fish stay with host families and are kept company by local kids while on the trip. The enrichment in this experience is immeasurable, and students come away with a deeper sense of self and their place in the world.

Athletic Training

Q&A

with Michele Pavlu

by Katie Sullivan & Kiana Brophy

Q: What's your daily routine?

A: I come in around 1:00 PM on A days and teach my Advanced Athletic Training Class, which is a year long course. On B days I come in around 11:30 am and do concussion evaluations and paperwork for the day. At about 2:30 every day, we start preparing ice coolers, med kits, and treat kids with any injuries. From 3 to 4 every day, we get everyone out to practice by taking care of their injuries. From 4 until the last event, I'm here helping with practices or covering any games that are going on.

Q: How many kids are in the athletic training program?

A: 20 students

Q: How many students go on to athletic training or allied health sciences in college?

A: Currently there are 10 that are studying AT or exercise science in college. Each year there's about 5 that go on to study AT or allied health. This year, eight of the eight seniors are looking to further their studies in allied health.

Q: What are the most common injuries you treat?

A: During the fall and winter seasons we see mostly ankle and knee injuries where as in the spring we tend to see shoulder and back injuries due to the type of sports. We also see concussions year round.

Q: What is the future of athletic training at Nauset?

A: We're looking at having 2, half year courses. Advanced athletic training will be in the fall, and introduction to athletic training will be held in the spring. To each program, more emergency care information will be added.

HANDS ON EXPERIENCES

QUIET!
ON THE AIR

The students of Nauset Regional High School are still enjoying the 19 year old Video Tech program lead by Mrs. McCully. This hands on and interactive program has caught the eye of many students at Nauset. The variety of jobs offered and the ever changing environment allow students to be on the move and always on the edge of their seats, prepared to film. Junior Kelsey Striffler remarks, "You never know what is going to happen next, so you always need to be prepared for any type of story that comes up". Freshman Kimmy Corrigan also states, "The thing that really attracted me to the Video Tech program were the variety of jobs that were offered inside of the studio. As audio director, I can set up the cameras and microphones, or be director, and experience the challenge of working the backstage equipment." Video Tech teaches students how to write and report for media and broadcast journalism and "it helps students learn all around better communication throughout media and in regular life situations"

A Year In The Life of The Yearbook Staff...

The 2013 yearbook production staff had a fun filled and busy year. Yearbook is not just an elective, it is a class that requires a lot of hard work and dedication, in and out of the classroom. This group put their full effort in, creating the yearbook one page at a time. Without the help and support from advisors Mrs. McGown and Ms. Van Tassel, the production of the yearbook would not have been possible. We would also like to thank Mr. Conrad, Dr. Markovich, Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Kenyon, Ms. Martin, Mrs. MacDonald, Aria Conte and everyone who contributed to this project. As we complete this book, we hope these high school memories will last a lifetime.
